

Henley Forum for Organisational Learning and Knowledge Strategies

Benefits of Organisational Partner Membership

Research projects:

- Embracing difference
- Energising knowledge sharing and organisational learning in today's workplace
- Engaging with and working through complexity

Learning for practical problem solving:

Action Learning

Learning has more impact when connected to real problems. Action Learning focuses the broad cross-organisational experience of a group of members on specific individual member challenges. Members can hire our expert facilitator for in-house action learning activities, at a significantly discounted rate.

Fees

The annual subscription for 2017 is £8,500 + VAT.

Aims

The Henley Forum brings together business practitioners, industry thought-leaders and experts/academics to develop and share insights, which help organisations to respond flexibly to the knowledge and learning challenges dominating our uncertain and turbulent business world. A regular rhythm of workshops, seminars, discussion groups and research projects offers a rich menu of activities to support organisational development.

Benefits

Membership offers you the following benefits:

- An Advanced Course in KM: Experiential learning designed to help people to explore what constitutes good practice in organisational learning and knowledge work activities and how that can apply in your business.
- An Advanced Course in OD (Organisational Development).
- A two day annual conference provides a concentrated update on thought leadership emerging in the fields of organisational learning and knowledge work.
- Regular opportunities for discussions with other business practitioners about approaches and solutions to current issues, good practice and lessons learnt including peer assist.
- New insights from participation in research projects that are tailored to your organisational issues. All research topics come from consultation with members about their current priorities and challenges.
- Support in applying project findings and guidance in your organisation through action learning groups and project briefings with experts in the field of knowledge and learning. Our Knowledge in Action series is designed to make KM practices relevant to non KM specialists.
- Access to member's website (includes full reports and guidance material generated from >55 completed projects to date) plus an extensive range of other KM resources.
- Access to dedicated collaborative spaces for action learning groups, research projects, and questions and answers.
- 5 FOC overnight stays at Henley Business School.
- 10% off HBS open programmes.

Membership entitlement

Membership entitles your organisation to two places at each of our four themed seminars, the Advanced Course in KM and our two-day annual conference and one place at the Advanced OD course.

More than two delegates may attend research projects, other briefings and Action Learning groups.

Members will also receive a copy of the Forum practical handbook 'Knowledge Works'.
