The right place

Henley coaching programmes and in-person events are often delivered in the UK at our Greenlands business school campus, on the banks of the River Thames, the perfect setting for intense reflection and development. Whether your Henley programme is delivered at Greenlands, or in London, at your own organisation or anywhere in the world, our teaching style will capture this same atmosphere, so important for reflection and development.

Go global

The Henley Professional Certificate in Executive Coaching is also delivered globally including in Germany, Finland, Denmark, South Africa and the Middle East.

Upcoming events

For a range of masterclasses, webinars and conferences visit hly.ac/coachingevents

Greenlands has an aura about it. The food, the building, the views, the staff – I think of it as an academic spa! So, if you really want to have an enriching experience, go to Henley. And strap yourself in for an amazing roller coaster ride that will change you forever.

Programmes to build skills and confidence as a professional coach

If you are a coach or manager with some existing knowledge of executive coaching, we have variously accredited coach and supervision programmes for you:

- Henley Professional Certificate in Executive Coaching (PCEC)
- Henley MSc in Coaching & Behavioural Change (MSc CBC)
- Henley Professional Certificate in Supervision (PCIS)
- Henley Systemic, Board and Team Coaching (SBTC)

Looking for coaching resources, events and webinars?

The Henley Centre for Coaching offers individual membership with benefits that include peer networking and CPD activities. Along with access to the National Coaching Resource Centre.

Organisations

Choose a Henley programme as your standardised management development approach

- Part-time, practical and applied, the Henley Professional Certificate in Executive Coaching is an ideal option if you are looking to develop multiple people across an organisation and ensure a consistent, high-quality approach.
- A coaching supervisor will monitor and improve the quality of coaching conversations across the organisation – participants on the Henley Professional Certificate in Supervision finish ready to take on this role.
- The new Henley Systemic, Board and Team Coaching programme will allow coaches to work with teams to develop better ways of working and new thinking, to maximise their collective potential, purpose and performance goals.

Opt for corporate membership of The Henley Centre for Coaching

We take an individual approach to corporate membership. See the website or talk to us to find out more, and take advantage of our world-class practitioner research and faculty.

Talk to us about a bespoke programme, designed for your organisation

The most effective way to develop in-house coaching skills and a coaching culture may be a bespoke programme, designed in collaboration with, and delivered specifically for, your organisation.
